

Dear Eighth Grade Families,

Welcome to our weekly team email.

We encourage you to continue to check our 8th grade website often for curricular information, announcements, and calendar updates. You can find it at <http://bvsd.org/schools/aspencreek/academics/8/Pages/default.aspx>

Today marks the end of the first six weeks of school, which means progress report cards will be sent home in Connect next Friday (October 2). Please remember that these reports are a "snapshot" of current performance only; the most up-to-date information is still available through Infinite Campus.

This week in Connect, students received a letter for parents to read and return. It contains the address, phone number, and email information that we have in our records for each of you. Please review the information carefully and return the paper with a signature and any appropriate changes as soon as possible.

Remember that students with missing assignments received a "ZAP" notice today and are expected to attend Monday's study hall from 3:30 - 4:15. Any students needing help or extra time to work are also welcome to attend. We are at the half-way mark of first trimester and would like to remind all students of the importance of keeping up with their work and getting additional help if needed.

Thanks again for your support,

Eighth Grade Teachers
