

Nov. 10, 2011

Dear Parents,

This week flew by! We started new reading groups based on new reading levels. Your child's report card(next Monday) will tell you the current level. Please feel free to contact me if you need clarification on anything. For the most part,

In math we worked on adding more than one number. We played 10 Turns and Five in a Row.

Our family unit continued with finding where ancestors came from on the world map and discussions about how families get along, family manners and rules, and how many families are not as fortunate as ours. As of this letter, I don't have many responses for our Family Lunch at 10:30 next Thursday. Please let me know if anyone in your family is able to come, so that we can plan paper goods, etc.

The Flat Stanley play/musical was wonderful! You'll be hearing more about Flat Stanley later.

We also filled the jewel jar again! We have not officially chosen a celebration, but I'm hoping for Monday or Tuesday.

Have a nice long weekend!

Warmly,

Becky Swanstrom