

Nov. 4, 2011

Dear Parents,

The week certainly started with a bang! What a great Halloween Party! Thank you again to everyone for helping, especially Lindsay Waymire and Jody Miller. This was the calmest week we've had for awhile.

Next week your child will be in a new reading group, based on the current level. I'm pleased with the progress kids have made.

I continue to be impressed with the writing motivation and skills.

We spent lots of time on Mystery Families, based on your child's homework. We are learning so much about our families. We also talked about families who aren't as fortunate as ours.

Remember our Flat Stanley play next Wednesday. Students will need a cold lunch that day, even though we will be eating lunch at school. Also make sure your child has a good breakfast.

Have a relaxing weekend!

Sincerely,

Becky Swanstrom