Service Learning/Volunteer/Gap Year

Diane has a book of resources in her office!

- <http://www.americorps.gov/>
- www.cityyear.org a branch of AmeriCorps, a youth-oriented, national, civic-service "action tank"-that's like a think tank with feet.
- <http://greenvolunteers.com> a self-proclaimed "world guide and information network to voluntary work in nature conservation."
- <http://www.wheretheyouheaded.com/> contains a database of ideas to make your time off from or before college meaningful, exciting and fun.
- <http://www.dynamy.org/> a not-for-profit experiential educational organization that offers an internship year mixing work, independent living, structure, and coaching.
- www.transitionsabroad.com a resource for (to name a few) teen travelers, seekers of short-term international work, budget travel, language study, and expatriates.
- www.leapyear.org offers a transitional year-abroad experience for people aged 17 to 20 that combines backpacking adventure, internship, skills training, and community service.
- <http://www.wherethebedragons.com/> Gap year programs. Office located in Boulder.
- <http://www.interimprograms.com/>
- <http://www.thinkingbeyondborders.org/>
- <http://www.woof.org/> help on organic farms in return for food, accommodation and opportunities to learn about organic lifestyles
